THE YACHT

The most fully loaded Magellano 60, in our view

The Magellano 60 is Azimut's long-range flybridge cruiser: a Ken Freivokh exterior, a dual-mode hull drawn with Profjord, and the range to cruise far and economically at 11 knots or run at over 20 when time matters. This boat has only 44 engine hours, and her factory specification runs to more than seventy options.

Twin MAN i6 diesels of 730 hp each give up to 26 knots and an 18 knot cruise, with 3,650 litres of fuel for 464 nautical miles at 11 knots. A Seakeeper 18 keeps her steady at anchor and under way.

Three guest cabins sleep six, with three bathrooms, plus a crew cabin with its own head. The main deck is one open space from the cockpit doors to the helm.
